Welcome!

Well, the Inside Soap Awards are over for another year! And while it's amazing to be able to hand out trophies to the winners, the most important thing for me is that these are the awards voted for by you – the loyal, passionate, funny

Inside Soap readers. And that certainly rang true to me on the night, with various stars delighted that these were the awards that came from you.

"If Inside Soap says it's true – it's true!"

"Inside Soap is legendary," said Dean Gaffney, who as EastEnders' Robbie has been in soap almost as long as Inside Soap itself. "It's like the holy grail for us guys – if Inside Soap says it's true, then it's true!"

Ah, shucks. Thanks, Dean! But as the awards fade away (well, apart from all the gossip, starting on p42), there's no stopping the drama. This week, we see baby agony in EastEnders, romance in Corrie, and Bob Hope in his pants in Emmerdale. Perhaps we'll need to introduce the Best Strip award next year!

THE NEW MUM PANICS,
LEAVING HER CHILD
ON A DOORSTEP...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 MONDAY

New mother Hayley returns to Albert Square with her baby daughter this week – and then makes a spur-of-the-moment decision to give her tiny child away!

When the young mum arrives back home in a cab, she suddenly realises that she doesn't even have the money to pay the driver. Fortunately, though, Carmel spots what's happening and steps in to give the cabbie his fare. However, Hayley's troubles are far from over, and she starts to go down a very dark path...

"Hayley has been frantic with worry about having this child for months, but now it's finally arrived, she's just in a daze," reckons our Walford snoop. "She's not thinking clearly, and she needs some proper help. Of course, Hayley is far too stubborn to accept it, and no one really understands the true extent of her depression."

While the rest of her clan are out looking for her, Hayley returns to No 31 and collects some baby items from the house. Panicking, she heads over to the Ahmeds' home, where she leaves the little girl on their doorstep, along with a hastily scribbled note asking the family to look after her! She then runs off to find her own mother, Bev.

"The fact that Hayley has gone back to her mum is an indicator of the strange place she's in right now," reckons our mole. "She can't stand Bev, but from her perspective, this still seems like a better option than looking after this unwanted child and facing all the questions about its father. Bev even covers for Hayley when the other Slaters come looking for her. So can the pair manage to heal the rift that exists between them?"

A little later, feeling guilty, Hayley returns to Albert Square, where she runs into Kat. Her relative wastes no time in scolding her for running away, and demands to know where the baby is. The two women soon get into a blazing row, which results in Hayley running back to Bev.

Meanwhile at the Ahmeds', Mariam and Arshad notice something worrying about the baby, and they contact Hayley telling her to meet them at the hospital. Fortunately, the little'un turns out to be fine, but when a social worker turns up too, there are some worrying moments as she demands to know what's really been going on. Mariam and Kat fight Hayley's corner, and the young mother even gives a few signs that she might be bonding with her

Hayley is struggling – but she has the support of Kat and the Ahmed family child. However, when Bev also turns up at the hospital, she insists that the baby comes home with her!

"Bev was a terrible parent to Hayley, so it's worrying to see her taking charge here," warns our snitch. "Despite Kat's pleas to come back to the Square with her child, Hayley instead follows Bev home. Bev tries to encourage Hayley and even tries to use it as a reason to fix the mistakes of the past. But can Hayley genuinely trust her mum after everything that's happened?"

Tom Spilsbury

"Now the baby has arrived, Hayley is just in a daze..."

Kat lays into Hayley for running away from her problems

MARIAM'S HOPE

Is this child the gift that she's been looking for?

The Ahmeds were recently forced to give up baby Harley, when the little lad went back to his biological mother. So when Mariam and Arshad come to discover that they've been left another child on their doorstep, might the pair attempt to turn the situation to their advantage?

Having taken the little girl into their home, Mariam initially tells her husband that she's informed the authorities. Arshad soon realises that his wife is lying, though, forcing her to admit the truth about the note left by Hayley.

Mariam then explains to Masood and Arshad that they should give Hayley time to come to her senses. However, could her reluctance to hand the baby over be an indication that she's already thinking about the idea of caring for the child on a much more permanent basis?

Engaged! Kate and Rana ring each other at the same time

There are tears of joy in Weatherfield this week – as Kate and Rana reunite, and propose to one another.

Things were fraught when Rana left to go on a cruise with her homophobic mum, hoping they could rebuild their damaged relationship following her dad's sudden death. Kate was heartbroken and tried to stop Rana going, but gave her blessing when she realised just how much it meant to her girlfriend to mend fences with her family. Their time apart has made both girls recognise just how much they mean to each other, and that they want to spend the rest of their lives together.

“I was really emotional when I first read the script, I texted Faye [Brookes, aka Kate] to tell her I cried!” enthuses Bhavna Limbachia, who plays Rana. “Kate and Rana have had so many hardships in their lives, and they've lost loved ones, which has brought them closer together. Having time apart Kate and Rana have had a lot of hardships in their lives...”

Are there brighter days ahead for the cobbles soulmates?

THREE'S A CROWD?

Kate wants children – but Rana is in no mood for kidding around...

The proposal is a delight for both Kate and Rana – but a big problem comes up when Kate tells Rana that one of the reasons she wants to marry her is because she'll make a great mum.

It's a conversation that the couple have never had before, and what Kate doesn't know is that Rana doesn't want to have children.

"Rana is keen to travel and see the world, so the fact that Kate wants kids straight away throws her," shares Bhavna. "The more Kate talks about it, the more the fear is embedded in Rana, and she can't shift it. She doesn't want to disappoint Kate because she wants to give her everything she desires in life, especially after losing Aidan. They are really happy together at the moment, and Rana doesn't want to burst that bubble."

When Kate finds out how Rana truly feels, could it be a deal-breaker in their relationship?

has made Rana realise she just wants to get back and cement her relationship with Kate."

What she doesn't know is that Kate has the same idea. She intends to greet Rana at the port when the cruise ship docks, and pop the question. Unfortunately for her, Rana arrives early and rushes to the Rovers to surprise Kate. But with the help of Johnny and Jenny, the girls are eventually reunited for their big moment.

"Rana returns early to surprise Kate, but Kate wants to surprise Rana," laughs Bhavna. "There's a lovely moment when Rana asks Johnny for permission to marry Kate and he is over the moon. I love how Jenny and Johnny are in on the secret!"

What's no surprise is that the girls say yes to each other – and it's a beautifully romantic moment for them both.

"When Faye and I came to film it, we both got teary," says Bhavna. "This is the peak of their relationship and makes them feel confident, knowing they are on the same page."

We can't imagine Rana's mum Saira will be too pleased, but she'll need to get on board with the upcoming wedding. What sort of occasion will it be?

"I think it will be important for both of them to have their identities put together," muses Bhavna. "It's powerful to say that it doesn't matter where you are from, love is love."

EMMERDALE | ITV FRIDAY

Charity fears for her daughter's future following recent events

Debbie's new heartbreak!

SHE FINALLY GETS WORD FROM JOE...

There's more misery for Debbie this week, as her financial and legal troubles mount – and she finally receives word from runaway groom Joe.

Debbie has been living a nightmare since her husband-to-be failed to show up to their hospital nuptials, and the police arrested her for ordering Ross' acid attack. Worse still, she's had to watch from afar as her ill daughter Sarah recovers from a heart transplant. So, although Debbie is out on bail and trying to rebuild her life, she's in turmoil. Then she gets a text from Joe that simply says, 'I'm sorry'.

"This is going to come as a surprise to viewers since it looked as though Joe was six feet under," muses our Dales insider. "The last we saw, his lifeless body was in Graham's boot, and the next thing we knew, Joe's former right-hand man was crying buckets after seemingly killing him. Debbie doesn't know any of this – she just thinks Joe abandoned her and the kids. So to receive such a pathetic apology doesn't go down at all well."

Seeing Debbie's misery is hell on earth for her dad Cain, especially as he believes he is responsible for Joe's death. And it's not just Debbie's heartbreak that's a concern – her bills are mounting, and she has no way to pay them. Cain and Moira try to step in, offering her work at the garage, but they're in bits when she tearfully asks them if they will take in Sarah and Jack if the worst happens and she's sent to prison.

"Debbie trusts no one more than her dad, which makes Cain's secret even harder to bear," says our spy. "She had a life full of happiness ahead of her with Joe, despite his deception over the true owner of Home Farm, and Cain feels as if he took it all away.

Joe's pathetic apology doesn't go down at all well with Debbie...“

Desperate Cain hopes that Debbie never discovers the truth

There's some good news for Debbie - Sarah is doing well

DEBBIE VS KIM!

As Kim's manipulation of Joe is revealed, she's set to become Debbie's new enemy. And there's already speculation that Debbie might take her revenge by using Kim's son, James.

Fans are wondering if the vengeful woman may use James to punish Kim, and in the process fall in love with him, like Joe did with her. But Dales star Charley Webb, who plays Debbie, thinks it'd be a bad idea.

"I'd find it interesting, but I don't think she'd go near James, after what's gone on with this random woman who's come to the village and destroyed her life," she muses. "To go for Kim's son would be stupid. Maybe she turns it around and strings him along and dumps him. And then maybe I die and my finger twitches!"

If she finds out what he did, their relationship will be completely destroyed."

There's one ray of hope for Debbie, though, when doctors tell her that Sarah's new heart is responding well. Debbie's elated, but she's later forced to tell Sarah that she could be facing years inside. Charity tries to reassure her, yet Debbie feels hopeless. Then she gets the message from Joe. Did he write the text, or is somebody else behind it?

WALFORD: THE NEXT CHAPTER

New EastEnders chief Kate Oates lifts the lid on what's next for the Square...

Soap superwoman Kate Oates has steered both Emmerdale and Corrie to tremendous success – with the Street scooping the coveted gong for Best Soap at this year's Inside Soap Awards (see p42 for the cast's winning interview)! Now, just over a month into her new job – overseeing EastEnders as well as Casualty and Holby City – Kate gives us a few sneaky hints on what we can expect to see happen in the Square, and teases some of her long-term plans for the show...

Hi Kate! How are you settling into life at EastEnders?

Good! I've hit the ground running, and couldn't ask for a nicer team. I'm working with [executive consultant] John Yorke, who I've admired for most of my career, which is great.

Which Walford residents can we expect to be involved in some big storylines this winter?

Well... There's going to be a great long story for the Mitchell family, so that's going to be exciting, with the whole Phil, Sharon and Keanu extravaganza going on. I'm excited about the Carters too, and I want to see them tested – but that doesn't mean not seeing them in the Queen Vic. I like seeing them in the pub, and I think Danny [Dyer, aka Mick] and Kellie [Bright, who plays Linda] are a brilliant soap pairing. What else do we have? Tiffany is getting herself into a whole lot of trouble, and things are going to get sticky for Mel around New Year!

Can you tease any new plots that are currently brewing?

There is a story I'm thinking of actually that makes me a little bit nervous, but I think I have the team behind me to tell it. I believe that it will be an important story, and it will offer what EastEnders does best, which is a really gritty-but-relevant long-term arc. Time will tell!

Will we meet any new characters in the coming months?

We're already talking about some new additions, so that's exciting. Generally there's quite a good spectrum already, and that's as much as I'll tease for now!

What sort of Christmas can we expect in Walford this year?

That was all planned before I got here, but I know what's happening. It's pacey drama, and it's all kicking off!

Is it bittersweet that Corrie just scooped our Best Soap gong?

I sort of feel a bit jammy really, as I can enjoy Corrie's success and be proud of it – and I'm also hungry for us to do well on EastEnders. When I pick up a copy of Inside Soap and flick through it, I feel as though I kind of know everybody!

Kate promises plenty of drama in the coming months in Walford

ROY'S DOGGY DRAMA!

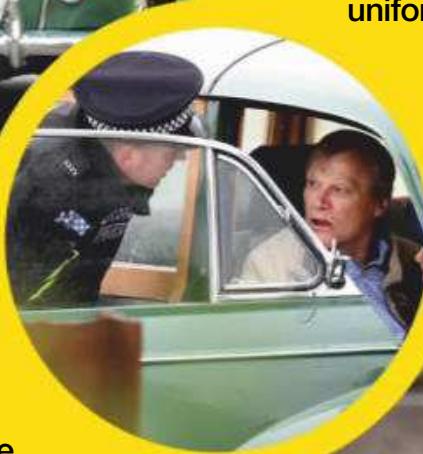

He bites off more than he can chew...

Corrie's Roy Cropper is to be at the heart of a new Street scandal, after the police pull him over for engaging in suspicious activity!

Our sneaky snaps show the cobbles stalwart out driving in his car with Tyrone's meddlesome grandmother, Evelyn, when the cops confront the duo. However, what exactly are the unlikely pairing up to?

"Rumour has it that Evelyn's precious pooch, Cerberus, is to be dog-napped!" exclaims our Street spy. "She enlists Roy's help to track him down, and they embark on a stakeout to catch the thieves. But they end up drawing more attention to themselves than the culprits in question!"

...and it appears she's reunited with her beloved pooch!

Various Corrie filming pictures show stars David Neilson (Roy), Maureen Lipman (Evelyn) and Alan Halsall (Tyrone) on location in what looks like a park. Whether Evelyn is eventually reunited with Cerberus or just another hound that looks like him remains to be seen – yet it's during Roy and Evelyn's covert mission that the windows of his classic Morris Minor steam up and attract uniformed officers in the area.

Will Roy convince them that he is simply on the hunt for pet poachers? Or is Weatherfield's most upstanding resident about to suffer the ultimate humiliation?

Cora & Ian join forces!

MAX AND RAINIE DEMAND TO KNOW
WHAT THEY'RE PLANNING TOGETHER...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

The fight for custody of baby Abi takes a new twist this week, as Cora pays a visit to Ian. Is she asking for help, to hold off the threat posed by her daughter Rainie and son-in-law Max?

Ever since the death of his daughter, Abi, at the start of the year, Max has been fiercely determined to win the battle for legal custody of her baby girl. Vowing to make up for his past mistakes by being the perfect guardian for his granddaughter, Max has even gone as far as marrying his former sister-in-law, Rainie, to convince the authorities that he can provide a stable family environment for the little'un.

However, as Rainie tells Max that they finally have a date for the custody hearing, the pair are deeply unsettled to see Rainie's mother, Cora, visiting Max's old nemesis – Ian Beale.

"Right from the start, Max and Rainie have been worried that Cora could derail their plans," notes our Walford snitch. "So when they see her visiting Ian, their paranoia levels go into overdrive! After all, even though Max is little Abi's grandfather – don't forget that Ian is too! Max knows all-too well how much Ian hates him. If there's any potential for Ian getting his own back, Max is certain that Ian will take it!"

Unable to resist their suspicious feelings, Max and Rainie burst into the Beale house, demanding to know what Cora is discussing

“She wouldn’t admit it, but Cora is struggling to cope with a baby”

Cora is up against it, but wants baby Abi out of Max's clutches to cope with a young baby," sighs our mole. "She's damn sure that Max won't get his grubby hands on Abi, though! However, an unfortunate episode with the youngster in the street does lead her to realise that she might not be up to the task herself."

When she realises Martin has seen the incident, Cora begs him not to tell Max. As no fan of Max himself, Martin promises to keep her secret – but could this prove to be the chink in Cora's armour that Max and Rainie can exploit?

Tom Spilsbury

IAN WANTS ABI-NESS?

He might seek involvement in his granddaughter's upbringing...

While Ian isn't baby Abi's biological grandfather, he still has reason to think of himself as such – given that Abi's father is Steven Beale, Ian's adopted son. So, might he decide to put in a claim for custody of little Abi himself?

It's fair to say that Ian has made a mess of things with his kids. Not only did Steven tragically die before Abi's birth, but Ian's daughter Lucy is dead too, murdered by his son Bobby, who now resides in a young offenders' institute. Although now the Walford businessman is alone once more, with a string of failed marriages behind him, it'd come as no surprise if he considered atoning for his previous mistakes by trying again with baby Abi...

with Ian. And while the accusations fly back and forth, the situation seems to be in danger of turning physical...

"Max had an affair with Ian's daughter Lucy, murdered his son Steven, broke up his marriage to Jane – and to top it all off, he even attempted to strangle him!" chuckles our insider. "It's not as though Ian doesn't have good cause to want revenge. If anything, he's been quite restrained for the past few months!"

Max's fortunes go from bad to worse when he finds out that his solicitor has been fired. However, he is given renewed hope when he meets his new lawyer, who's much more positive about the couple's chances of being successful in their battle for custody of young Abi.

But elsewhere, the cracks are slowly beginning to show for exhausted Cora...

"Although she wouldn't care to admit it, Cora is struggling

Chas & Paddy's heartbreak continues...

WILL THE LOSS OF BABY GRACE DESTROY THEM BOTH?

Numb Paddy's nightmare gets worse this week – as he looks set to lose his business and the woman he loves.

He's keen to get back to work so he can escape the terrible grief of losing baby Grace, but discovers the vet practice is facing some serious financial problems. Determined to fix things, Paddy digs in – however, in doing so, the distance between him and Chas widens. Soon, she's wondering if there is any future for them at all...

"In trying to be strong for Chas, Paddy has stunted his own grief, and he's showing nothing in his emotions," explains Dominic Brunt, who plays the troubled vet. "Chas feels as though she's grieving alone, because he refuses to open up. The grief for Gracie is there, but it frightens the life out of Paddy. It's a vicious circle."

His colleagues Rhona and Vanessa are doing everything they can to support Paddy, yet the truth about their business issues comes tumbling out. It transpires that a rival practice has opened up, and it is a whole lot cheaper than the Emmerdale village surgery.

"They were hoping to fix the problems before Paddy got back, though he tells them, 'I'm an adult, and I can help fix this,' shares Dominic. "He feels pressure, because he helped build this business up. It's also a way for him to take his mind off his grief and loss."

Chas is less than impressed, but Paddy ploughs on. An

Paddy is facing difficulties with his vet business

“There is a definite risk that this could break Chas and Paddy...”

THE TRUTH ABOUT GRIEF

Emmerdale's decision to show the complicated aspects of grief is one of the most important parts of Paddy and Chas' story. For Dominic, it's been enlightening.

"It's fascinating to find out how human beings grieve, because it's messy and clumsy and there's no straightforward way to do it," he shares. "There are no textbooks to tell you what to do, and so many things like our backgrounds and everything we've been through feed into it."

The truth is that plenty of people go into a state of numbness and shut down emotionally when they lose someone – and Dominic insists that reaction isn't wrong.

"As an actor, you want a degree of sympathy, so you think, 'Oh, do I want to be doing that?'" says the actor of Paddy's behaviour. "But it's true to life, and so I'm glad to be servicing that story."

Chas is finding Paddy's actions tough to handle issue occurs, though, when he operates on a poorly cat and the beloved pet dies. Rhona finds him in tears after the traumatic procedure, and it's evident that he's not coping.

"The cat's death is not in any way Paddy's fault, he wasn't medically negligent," insists Dominic. "But he makes the mistake of saying, 'I want to speak to the owner', which he didn't need to do. Paddy ends up making a mess of that because he handles it badly, and this cat's death affects him more than an animal death usually would."

Paddy's inner turmoil is eating him up inside, but for Chas it's utterly maddening. She feels as though she can't go on trying to cope with her pain and feeling so estranged from Paddy.

"There is a definite risk that this could break them," admits Dominic. "They have a rocky road ahead. Paddy has been articulate about the fact that he can't feel emotional and hasn't shed a tear. It makes him feel like a barbarian, and it's driving him insane. I'm delighted Emmerdale has kept going with this story, or else it would have done the people who've really been through this a disservice. It's uncomfortable, but it needs to be done."

Carmel's emotional goodbye

SHE'S LEAVING THE TRAGIC PAST BEHIND...

It's an emotional week for the Kazemis this week, as Carmel says a tearful goodbye to son Kush and Albert Square.

She's decided to start a new life in Dubai, where she can be close to son Darius and try to move on after Shakil's horrific murder. However, her other son Kush, although understanding of her reasons and supportive of her decision, is still bereft at saying farewell to his mum. But before she goes, Carmel has some unfinished business to take care of.

"Ever since Shaki died, Carmel has been on a mission to stop knife crime, so no other parent has to go through this unbearable loss," our Walford insider reminds us. "It's been very tough, especially given the resistance she's faced, yet the hardest part of it was trying to get Keegan back on an even keel. And following his behaviour on Halloween night, that task has been harder than she thought."

With the events of the week before still fresh in her mind, Carmel busies herself by handing out some of Shakil's possessions to those who loved him. He was such a huge part of their lives, and Carmel wants the people who mattered to her son to have something to remember him by. The effect his death has had on the community, particularly all of Shakil's teenage friends, has been profound. Carmel doesn't have much to console herself with, but knowing his life made a difference is something. All she can hope is that Keegan learns this lesson about himself.

"She's all set to head off, yet it's vital to her that she and Keegan have some closure," reveals our spy. "Not only was Keegan her son's best friend, but obviously he was involved in the incident that led to Shakil's death. She hates the thought that this trauma could plague his life forever."

Nick's mystery woman!

AS HE MEETS UP WITH ELSA, CARLA WANTS TO FIND OUT THE TRUTH...

Leanne decides she's ready to give Nick another chance this week, despite warnings from Carla that he's not to be trusted!

Carla has already grown very suspicious of the fella's business commitments in Nottingham, especially given how evasive he is on the subject. And after Carla digs around, she gets answers to some of her questions – he co-owns a restaurant with a woman called Elsa.

Carla tells Nick that she's going to Nottingham to take a look at his business, so he tries to stop her, promising to explain all. He says he did a favour for a mate – purely for tax reasons – and became a joint business partner with the friend's wife, Elsa.

What does Carla discover from her conversation with mysterious Elsa?

Once alone, Nick phones Elsa and lies to her, claiming that his mother is ill, so he needs to stay put. But he's later horrified to spot Elsa heading towards No 8, so he very quickly steers her towards the Bistro, to avoid an awkward confrontation. Carla witnesses the entire interlude, however, and is further intrigued by what she sees going on.

Later, when Nick has missed their scheduled business meeting, Carla grabs his car keys off the desk and lets herself into his vehicle in order to find out his address from the sat-nav. But what she finds instead comes as a huge shock. Could it end up throwing further doubt on all of Nick's claims?

Tom Spilsbury

Whatever happens with Keegan, Carmel can leave safe in the knowledge that she and Kush are solid. They have been to hell and back in recent months, but their love for each other has only got stronger.

While Carmel is concerned about how he's coping, she knows Kush has Denise to care for him. But as Kush continues to hide his one-night stand with a waitress from his fiancée, will this really be the last time we see Carmel?

Deranged maniac Finn Kelly is back this week, and ends up pushed over the edge of a cliff! But who is responsible for the deadly shove – Susan, Bea, Elly or Xanthe?

Finn makes his comeback when Bea returns to the remote cabin where the villain had previously been hiding out. Searching for closure, Bea is horrified as she comes across the twisted psychopath himself!

"Finn has had some time out," explains Rob Mills, who plays the tormentor.

"Obviously, you can't lock three people in a shipping container and expect to get away with it! The police are looking for him, so he's been waiting for the heat to subside. Now he's back for revenge!"

As Bea tries to stay calm, Finn toys with her, claiming he wants to make amends. Trying not to inflame the situation, Bea plays along, saying she never stopped loving him.

"Finn tries to woo Bea again," Rob tells us. "He's so creepy! Although he's psychotic, he has definite feelings for her. He loves her, but he's dreaming of both Elly and Bea. That's the thing he can't let go. He's such a weird guy."

In Ramsay Street, Susan, Elly and Xanthe realise where Bea has gone, and set off to find her. So after she hits Finn and flees, Bea is relieved to find the others. It's only a temporary reprieve, though – and soon they're all confronted by Finn on a cliff's edge!

"Finn is like a kid in a candy store!" chuckles Rob. "It's the four girls who've been the most important people in his life – and he's got them all together!"

The perilous situation that unfolds results in Finn lying at the bottom of the cliff. But as the women resolve to keep quiet about what happened, is Finn truly dead?

Tom Spilsbury

FINN-ISHED!

Rob says that he loved shooting these exciting clifftop scenes...

"They had nine cameras, and we usually have two," he grins. "It was really well shot. Before the stunt guy came in, I nearly fell off that cliff – and all the girls freaked out! I mean, I was a good 30cm away, yet I still got pretty close to the edge, so their fear is all real. But I didn't have to do the actual stunt where Finn goes over."

"The stunt guy was amazing – it was terrifying. It was a good couple of days filming, though it was absolutely freezing!"

"No, Bob... we're over!"

LAUREL GIVES HER
MAN THE FLICK
WHILE HE GYRATES
IN HIS PANTS...

Laurel sensationally tells her fella Bob that their romance is finished this week, and she does it in the most public way – in the Woolpack, as her lover is parading around in nothing but a pair of Union Jack boxer shorts!

At the start of the week, Laurel is struggling with her feelings for Bob, telling her dad Doug that she's planning to end things with her lover. Shocked by her revelation, Doug tells his daughter to have a good long think about what she really wants before rushing into something she'll regret.

"Doug ultimately just wants Laurel to be happy, but he's stunned that she's talking about ending her romance with Bob already," says our Dales snitch. "After all, it was her affair with Bob that wrecked his marriage to Brenda before it had even begun – and now, six months later, Laurel wants out! However, she listens to her dad's words and agrees to take a few days away to think things over before doing anything rash. Although she's going to wish that she had never listened to Doug..."

Elsewhere, Bob is oblivious to Laurel's concerns over their future. Instead, he's celebrating his return behind the bar of the Woolpack. Eager to make a big impression, he suggests throwing a strippers' night – and when the event is a sell-out, he's even more pleased with himself.

However, disaster looms when the strippers cancel. Although he tries to find a replacement act, no one's available, but Bob refuses to admit defeat – and comes up with a plan to make sure the punters get what they've paid for.

"Good grief, this is pitiful," groans our spy. "Bob ropes in Jimmy, Rishi and Doug to join him as the evening's headline act. Let's face it, Chippendales they are not. Chumps-in-Dales is more like it!"

As the big night arrives, Laurel returns from her short retreat – and the poor woman

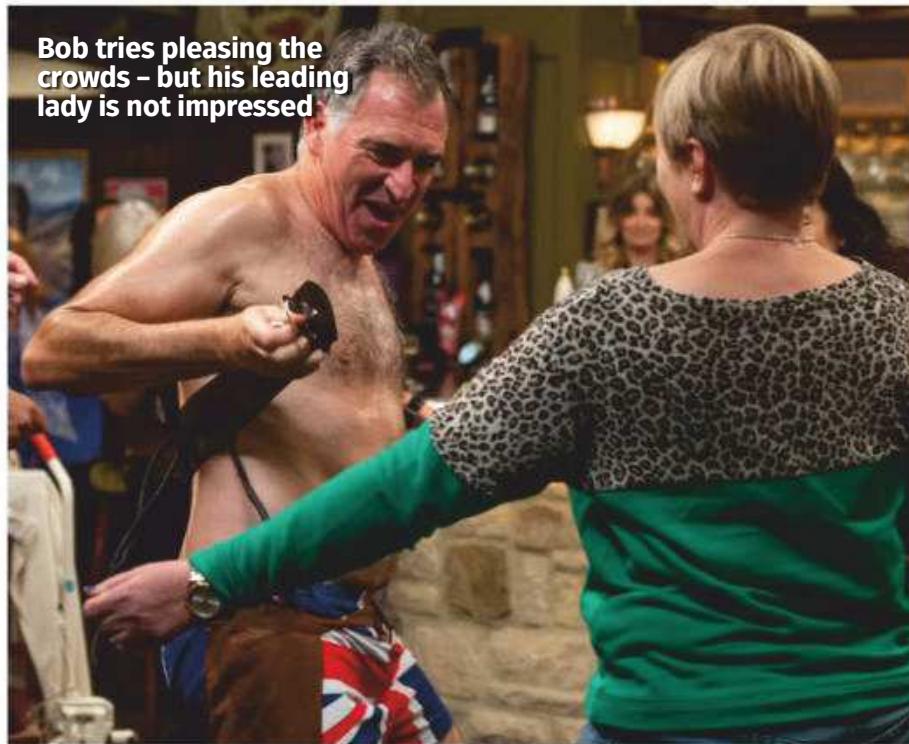

"This is pitiful – they're like Chumps-in-Dales!"

Marlon and Charity's faces say it all when Bob suggests his bright idea!

Bob tries pleasing the crowds – but his leading lady is not impressed is given the shock of her life when she walks into the Woolpack to see Bob in just his underpants, wiggling his hips!

"Any lingering doubts over whether she's doing the right thing disappear in that moment," declares our mole. "Bob even tries to grab Laurel's arm and pull her up on to the stage with him! She can't believe that he could be so lacking in self-awareness that he'd humiliate her like this – so she dumps him on the spot, in front of everyone. Cringe!"

As Laurel's stinging words hang in the air, Bob looks a pathetic figure in his kecks. Is there any possible way back for the couple after this?

Sally isn't at all happy with Gina's comments during her prison visit

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

Sisters at war!

SALLY DISOWNS GINA, AS HER SIBLING GETS CLOSER TO TIM...

Jailed Sally lashes out at Gina this week – and tells her that she never wants to see her again! However, what Sal doesn't realise is that her smitten sister is falling harder by the day for Tim – who finally realises with some help this week, that Gina has a twinkle in her eye...

"Sally's love really means the world to Gina, but is Tim's affection starting to count for more?" wonders our Coronation Street spy. "If Sally continues to push her away, Gina might not feel so guilty about going after her sister's man!"

Horrendous as her prison situation is, Sally is making the best of her time behind bars when she rallies her fellow inmates to stand up for their rights. But after Gina points out that Sally's leadership days as the Weatherfield mayor are over, her sister takes offence and sends her away – leaving Gina gutted.

Meanwhile, Gina's former flame Dev convinces himself that there is still a spark between them, and he invites her out for dinner. However, the meal just confirms for Gina that she and Dev have nothing in common – prompting her to ditch Dev and cosy up beside Tim at home on the sofa. What on earth would Sally say?

The following day, Gina's on cloud nine as the factory girls poke fun at her and Tim, suggesting that they are like an old married couple. Over at Weatherfield nick, though, Sally is on the receiving end of good news when she learns that Paula has new evidence to discredit fraudster Duncan – leading Sal to excitedly begin making plans for her release, including transforming Gina's bedroom into a yoga studio! Gina is delighted when Tim says she's needed more than ever..."

"nowhere!" despairs our mole. "Of course, it's a completely innocent remark, but for Gina it's as if all her Christmases have come at once!"

While Tim is blissfully unaware of Gina's crush, others have begun to spot that she obviously has the hots for him. After noticing the dreamy look Gina gives whenever Tim's name is mentioned in conversation, Fiz shares her concerns with Geoff, who is later alarmed to witness first hand Gina's flirting with his son.

With that, he takes Tim to one side and warns him. But is Tim simply too dim to see the truth for himself?

It seems as though Geoff's words have definitely made an impression on him when he and Gina go to visit Sally together, and Tim makes a point of telling his wife how much he loves her in front of her sister. Gina is mortified as it dawns on her that Tim is now well aware that she has feelings for him, prompting her to inform him that she plans to join a dating site.

Gina's admission leaves Tim confident that she most definitely doesn't fancy him, and he jubilantly reports back to Geoff. However, is that the end of the matter as far as Gina is concerned?

As Sophie and Paula fall out, will it scupper Sally's bid for freedom?

As Sally's lawyer Paula pulls out all the stops in order to secure her client's freedom this week, her hard work is threatened to be undone in an instant by her sneering other half Sophie!

Sally's daughter is narked when her lover arrives for lunch at Speed Daal with some fellow legal eagles, and coolly treats Sophie like a waitress. But as it transpires, one man is in possession of the crucial evidence that could free Sally – and the other is a judge who could preside over her mum's trial! After Paula scolds Sophie for being so rude to both gentlemen, has she managed to cost Sally her freedom?

Doctors death crash horror!

DISASTER STRIKES ON A DAY OUT FOR HESTON, MRS TEMBE AND DR AL – LEAVING THEIR LIVES HANGING IN THE BALANCE...

Fun in the country takes a terrible turn this week, when Dr Al, Heston and Mrs Tembe are involved in a terrifying car accident.

The incident occurs as Al gets behind the wheel of Heston's beloved Jaguar. He's driving home the tipsy medic and Mrs Tembe after lunch in the pub, and unused to the speed of Heston's motor, loses control of it. It flies over a hedge before plunging into a field – leaving a pile of crumpled wreckage, and the seriously injured trio fighting for their lives inside. And not all of them will survive...

"Mrs Tembe is unconscious and in a really bad way, and Al has broken his leg – so it's left to Heston to try to help them," reveals Ian Midlane, who plays Dr Al. "Heston used to be a surgeon, and talks Al through how to help Mrs Tembe. There's no medical equipment, though, and they're in the middle of nowhere without phone reception, so they have to improvise and adapt.

"Heston is actually more badly injured than he's letting on, but he and Al must think on their feet – because if they don't, Mrs Tembe will die right there in the car."

The three spend a jolly afternoon together at Al's insistence, after Mrs Tembe and Heston fall out over the type of biscuits to offer a guest from the Clinical Commissioning Group. While Heston and Mrs Tembe bury the hatchet over a bottle or two of wine, Al is forced to stay sober because his favourite ale is off – ending up as designated driver.

"Heston and Mrs Tembe are sozzled in the back of the car, while Al drives round the country lanes," shares Ian. "Heston's car is very fancy, and Al's not used to such a powerful engine. He hits a sharp bend in the road and the tyres skid on mud, sending the car spinning out of control..."

Mrs Tembe is knocked out cold – can Al and Heston save her?

If Heston and Al don't think on their feet, Mrs Tembe will die!"

With all three passengers in a bad way, viewers are already aware that at least one of them is set to lose their life. And regardless of which character dies, the repercussions of this dreadful accident are set to be felt for a long time yet.

"Life will never be the same again," sighs Ian. "It's a learning curve for everyone involved, and some will be completely, utterly and horribly changed by what happens. It's already out there that someone will die – but it might be more than one person..."

Allison Jones

Inside Soap was lucky enough to be out on location with the Doctors crew while they shot this major episode, and we grabbed actor Ian behind the scenes...

We've just watched the car crash being filmed – it was very impressive!

It's extraordinary. The car's windscreen is broken in, there are wires hanging out, but the worst thing is the smell of burned plastic and petrol. It's a properly crashed car, and we're all squeezed into it. So there's not been much acting required!

This is a pretty big deal for Doctors...

It's certainly the biggest stunt we've done on Doctors for about 10 years – it's huge. We're really proud of it. We always work hard, but this is extra special, and we've really pushed the boat out.

Have you filmed many stunts before?

My first driving stunt on screen was in an episode of The Bill, in a really expensive Audi. I was playing a nasty villain, and it was a bit scary as the car was worth a quarter of a million pounds! But this time I have more valuable things with me, because Lorna Laidlaw [Mrs Tembe] and Owen Brenman [Heston] are in the car!

Has it been a nightmare, keeping the secret of who is set to die?

You do have to be cautious talking to people. There's been lots of conjecture online about who will leave the show and how it'll happen. It's nice that it's not out there exactly what happens – because it's worse than anybody seems to think that it's going to be...

Will the team get together to watch the episode when it's on screen?

We definitely will. We're talking about getting together and having a little lunch when it's on.

No expense was spared for this particular stunt

Sinead is back in Sami's arms
once more

I need a hero!

SAMI HELPS OUT SINEAD – IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE...

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 THURSDAY

Prepare for more raunchy scenes in Hollyoaks this week – as Sami and Sinead pick up where they left off!

The randy pair had the ride of their lives after Sami came across stranded Sinead during Chester's freak storm, and they ended up getting it on in the back of his car! And the spark is clearly still crackling between them, when he comes to her rescue once again...

"I was watching our scenes from 'Storm Week' with my mum and she said, 'Gosh, this is a bit steamy, isn't it?' blushed Stephanie Davis (Sinead), as she joins Inside Soap for a catch-up. "When I got my scripts I couldn't help but laugh, because it was only the second scene I was down to film after coming back!"

Having, ahem, kept each other warm through some adverse weather conditions, Sami and Sinead are at it again this week, as he unexpectedly gets involved in what looks like her daughter Hannah's kidnap!

"Sinead keeps receiving these calls," Stephanie tells us. "Someone has Hannah, and Sinead wants to find out how she is yet feels a bit awkward about it, so she doesn't answer her phone. She lies to Tony and Diane that Hannah is with a friend in Spain, but actually her daughter is in England. Sinead thinks, 'Right –

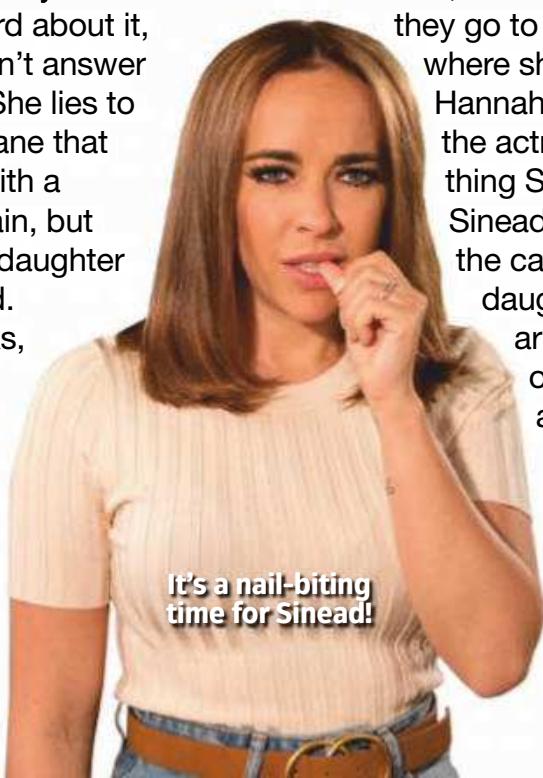

I need to do something about this' so she goes to get Hannah, and on the way bumps into Sami, who gives her a lift.

"He's quite cocky and arrogant at first, but Sinead tells Sami, 'Just drive!' and they go to a nursery where she picks up Hannah," continues the actress. "The next thing Sami knows, Sinead is running to the car with her daughter in her arms, and loads of people are running after her!"

Viewers will have to wait and see whether

"Sinead and Sami end up going back in for seconds!"

It's a nail-biting time for Sinead!

You can say that again!

OUR FAVOURITE RECENT SOAP QUOTES...

"Ken would have been advised to stick to his earlier writing style – gritty realism. Kitchen-sink drama. It's a fascinating British cultural movement: social realism. The urban proletariat in the industrial north that is A Kind Of Loving, Billy Liar and Saturday Night and Sunday Morning."
...and, of course – as Roy is not quite saying – the early years of Coronation Street.

"I want to be a Paralympian. Footballers are pampered millionaires who roll around crying when they're tackled."
When life gives you lemons, make lemonade.

"It's a slippery slope. One minute you're sat there with a box-set and a take-out... The next, the fire brigade are trying to haul you out of the sofa you've been glued to by your own tears. No man's worth that."
Leyla knows how important it is to move on after a messy break-up.

"I haven't got a leg to stand on, have I?"
"Long John Silver had double what you've got."
By our calculations, this means Bernice has half a leg to stand on.

"Don't play the innocent with me, Robbie Jackson. I know you've been fingering me Garibaldis."
Well, everyone has their own name for them.

"You're at it, ain't ya, with the oldest swinger in town! She's not that far off your nan's age. There should have been enough candles on that birthday cake to start a bush fire."
Karen was a little harsh on Sharon. If you ask us, she's still got it – and clearly Keanu agrees!

Sinead has actually gone as far as to abduct Hannah, and what trouble that brings to her door. In the meantime, she has knight in shining armour Sami for distraction...

"He ends up being her hero again," grins Stephanie. "Sami is a bit snappy at first as he just wants to know what the hell is going on, but she confides in him and he realises there is more to the situation. And then, yeah, they end up going back in for seconds!"

Is this the beginning of a sizzling love affair for Sinead? And what drama could be following the troublesome mum to Hollyoaks village?

Tyrone catches Granny Evelyn in Fiz's earrings...

CORONATION STREET
ITV WEDNESDAY

Tensions rise inside No 9 this week, as Tyrone confronts his Grandma Evelyn after discovering she's been rummaging about in his girlfriend Fiz's jewellery box!

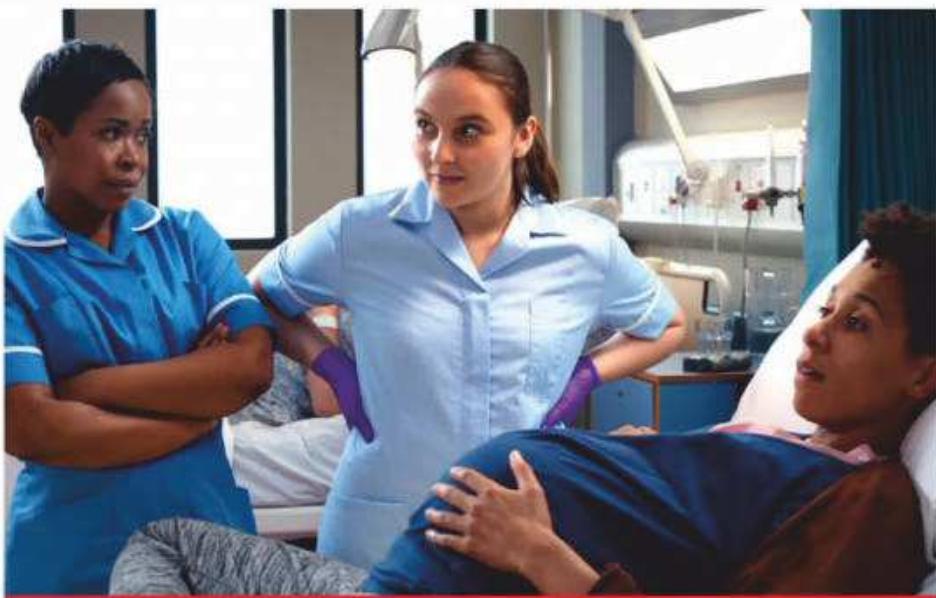

It's not exactly been a happy household ever since Evelyn came to live with the couple, given that the old lady took an instant dislike to Fiz, and doesn't seem to be that fond of Tyrone, either. The atmosphere is made even more toxic, though, when Tyrone comes to realise that his granny's 'new' earrings look suspiciously familiar. And as he discovers Fiz's jewellery box stashed under Evelyn's bed, he furiously confronts his elderly relative to demand an explanation!

Realising she's in danger of overstaying her welcome, Evelyn uncharacteristically tells her grandson how grateful she is that he's provided a roof over her head. Not to be deterred, Tyrone tells his gran that their living arrangements aren't working out – but will the fella's resolve weaken when Evelyn resorts to emotional blackmail?

SHINING A LIGHT

It's been interesting to watch the Emmerdale episodes showing Rhona struggling to decide what's best for her son Leo. I'm facing exactly the same dilemma with my son Joshua – whether specialist schooling is best, or to keep him at the local primary. It's wonderful to see the issue presented so sensitively. I hope it helps the parents of Joshua's own school friends to better understand our situation.

LIFE WITH BRIAN

You hear a lot about soap characters you love to hate, but I have a character I hate to love. Brian in Corrie drives me round the bend with his constant mithering, yet I can't help finding him endearing. It's probably because he reminds me of my husband! And like Cathy, I never get a holiday either!

Maggie, Shrewsbury

It's better your husband is like Brian than almost any other Weatherfield man – they're all cheats!

"I've booked us a holiday, Cathy! Summer Bay is the place. It's meant to be quiet..."

GETTING AWAY WITH IT

I can't remember when I last laughed as much as during the scenes where Sharon and Karen managed to convince Louise that she was wrong about Sharon's affair with Keanu. Especially when Sharon had to play the 'sex tape' while insisting it was just the sound of her doing exercises!

However, I bet Sharon's promise "on the life of her son" will come back to haunt her...

Wendy, London

We had many letters this week on the subject of Sharon, and this next one was my favourite...

If looks could kill, poor Sharon wouldn't stand a chance

I'm not sure how Letitia Dean feels about Sharon constantly being called a "washed-up old slapper" or "old enough to be your grandmother" – or worse – but I have to say I hate it! I'm the same age as Sharon, and I am certainly not a washed-up anything, thank you very much. It's all so rude and ageist!

Britte, Slough

You tell 'em, Britte! Lock up your sons, Slough!

"Washed-up granny? Not me, darling!"

"Leyla, I'm telling the truth - I was a doctor at Holby City Hospital!"

HIGHLY UNLIKELY!

So Leyla in Emmerdale went to Greece and fell in love with a con man who also happens to be the ex-cellmate of the con-man dad of her friend Vanessa? What are the chances of that happening, eh?

👉 | Mark

It's a bit of a coincidence, isn't it? Well, unless it's all part of her new fella's plan...

DREAM LOVER

Thank goodness that Mary's lying son Jude has left town – he was such a wet blanket. Now Angie is free to get together with Adam Barlow. Imagine Mary's face when she comes downstairs each morning to find Adam wearing just a towel – she's been in love with him since she first laid eyes on him!

👉 | Rebecca

We will all be happy to see that scene, Rebecca.

TYPER ERROR

How could Neighbours do this to me? They brought Tyler back from prison and gave me hope that he and Piper might finally be reunited – then they cruelly snatched it away by splitting them up again! I can't believe that Tyler has left for good.

👉 | Joanie

You'll have to blame actor Travis Burns (Tyler) for wanting to pursue a career in LA!

The BIG DEBATE!

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

KNICKERS IN A TWISTER!

Hollyoaks pulled off one of its biggest stunts to date when a killer storm ripped through the village – leaving destruction in its wake! And with Sinead back too, there was carnage all over the place...

Lily was so tense, I could feel myself holding my breath watching it! I'm so glad that Lily didn't die at the end – but was anyone else willing James to jump into the water and save his son? I can't believe he just left him in there!

👉 | Jenny

But not all of you were impressed with the show's special effects...

I love Hollyoaks' big stunts, though I did have to laugh at the 'twister' that came hurtling towards Sinead and Sami! It was all a bit Wizard Of Oz, wasn't it? And the bit where the Hollyoaks sign crashed through the roof of their car was just hilarious!

👉 | Meena, Bolton

Hollyoaks can't be accused of taking itself too seriously!

I know that actress Steph Davis has had a hard time in the press for her real-life antics, but bringing her back to Hollyoaks as Sinead was a stroke of genius! I'd forgotten just how good she was in the show. The scenes with her and Sami getting steamy in the back of his car were brilliant! I can't wait to see what other mischief she'll cause now that she's back.

👉 | James

I can't believe that Hollyoaks killed off Tegan! I know that it usually does kill someone off in its big stunt week, but I honestly did not see that one coming. And just when she, Tony and Diane had finally come to an agreement over the kids. I wonder who will get custody of Rose now?

Sharon certainly has her hands full!

BETTER BEST FORGOTTEN?

I'm confused! I watched every episode of the Kat and Alfie show Redwater – but what happened in that series never seems to have been referred to in EastEnders. Has it been written out of history?

|| Bob

It's a tricky one. There were certainly references in EastEnders to Kat being in Ireland before Redwater, but since then, it does seem as if Walford bosses are trying to quietly draw a veil over the whole thing! The 'new' history tells us that the Moons split up while in Spain – and no one is mentioning Kat's murderous Irish son!

EASTENDERS | BBC1 FRIDAY

“Louise is growing up - you’ll see her begin to explore adult life”

WALFORD STAR
TILLY KEEPER
IS LOVING HER
CHARACTER’S
LATEST DRAMAS...

Louise Mitchell proved that she was her father's daughter last week, after she was revealed as the blackmailer tormenting Sharon over her affair. However, it soon became clear that she was still in the playground when it came to being a fully fledged Mitchell – with Sharon deftly pulling the wool over her eyes, by lying that her and Keanu had simply been engaged in some exercise!

But while we join Tilly Keeper, who plays Louise, for a catch-up about her character's recent dramas, she tells us that she'd like Louise to go maximum Mitchell – though reckons it may be a while before she is ready...

"I don't know if I could handle that kind of responsibility," she chuckles. "Sharon is an amazing matriarch, and I think over time that Louise will learn a lot from her. Louise is all about loyalty, so if you wrong the head of the Mitchell family, as is happening with Sharon and Keanu, then she is going to have something to say about it. But I'm not sure if she gets it all just yet."

However, whatever Louise might reckon about recent events, Tilly has adored playing out the dramatic scenes in the Mitchell household...

"I love the storyline with Keanu and Sharon – mainly because I love Letitia Dean [aka Sharon] with all my heart," raves the star. "That woman is such an incredible actress, but also such a lovely person, and I love that she's getting this story. It's fun Sharon – just Sharon having a good time. I really like it, and it's been great to play a part in it."

Of course, all the Mitchell family dramas aside, one of the other major events in Louise's life this year has been the return of her 'auntie' Mel, along with her son Hunter, to the Square.

"Well, obviously Louise started off her year with Hunter and Mel coming back," explains Tilly. "She's very pleased to have her Aunt Mel in her life, as she adores her. She's someone Louise really looks up to. But then obviously she got into that toxic relationship with Hunter, which was a massive learning curve for her."

Caught out: Louise rumbled Sharon's affair, but her stepmum convinced her that she's innocent

Although they split up a while back, this week they throw a party together for their mates, to celebrate each of their birthdays. With the night destined not to end well, it doesn't look as if there will be any reconciliation between the pair any time soon. However, Tilly does reckon that Louise has learned something from the romance.

"It was just such a turning point, because she finally found that softer and more intimate side to her," muses the actress. "She revealed her burns for the first time to a significant other, which is a big thing – even if it didn't end well."

Of course, another huge event in recent months was Louise losing her close pal Shakil – but off screen it hasn't been quite as big a wrench for Tilly.

"I probably see Shaheen [Jafargholi, who played Shakil] more now than I did when we worked together!" she laughs. "He's moved 10 minutes round the corner from me, so I'm always at his house. He's phoned me about seven times today, even though we knew we were going to see each other tonight!

Louise's relationship with Hunter was a turning point...

"But I think the loss of Shakil has really hit Louise hard," adds Tilly. "It was one of her best friends passing away. I might be biased because Shaheen and I are best friends, but Louise and Shaki – while you maybe didn't see it in all episodes – really were best friends. She's had so many losses in the past few months, so she's kind of trying to roll with it!"

With everything that's happened this year, we reckon Louise deserves a bit of light relief – and Tilly reveals that this might well be in the offing.

"I think she's going to have a bit of fun!" teases the star. "We're filming New Year episodes now, and Louise might have her eye on someone... I can't say much, though. She'll be having a lot of fun, and we'll see her exploring her new kind of adult life in an interesting way."

Steven Murphy

PUB LOVE!

As Louise grows up, Tilly has an idea for how her Walford character could come to expand her horizons...

"Kellie Bright [Linda] and I were saying the other day that it would be so much fun if Linda took Louise under her wing," she says. "I love Linda, and Louise is a real girlie girl, so I think they'd get on. That would be so much fun, and I'd get to wear pink and work in the pub!"

Party pooper: Louise and Hunter's event doesn't go to plan

A new man?

AS JESSE'S BROTHER RETURNS, STAR JUDE MONK McGOWAN TELLS US ABOUT LIAM'S ANTICS...

When Hollyoaks viewers were reunited with Liam Donovan a couple of months ago in Magaluf, they realised this wasn't the same man who'd left the show last year. Not only has Liam changed his ways, but the actor who plays him has changed too – with Jude Monk McGowan taking over the role from Maxim Baldry. We caught up with Jude to find out how he's getting on...

Hi Jude! How have your first few months at Hollyoaks been?

I've absolutely loved it! Everyone's been so kind, considerate and helpful. I feel so settled and the character's been so much fun. There's been a big shift for Liam – it's almost like a completely new character!

What's been your favourite part about playing Liam so far?

He can do things and justify anything. Liam gets to behave badly with no repercussions, and that's not something you usually get to do. When [executive producer] Bryan Kirkwood told me about my entrance, I couldn't have been more excited! Revenge characters are always the best – it seemed perfect.

Are you happy Liam's going down a dark path?

Absolutely! We're always fascinated by how good people can do seemingly bad things. His justification for it is the fact that these women

Court in a trap:
Liam is out
for revenge

Psychological warfare:
Liam blackmails
Courtney

killed his dad, and one of them killed the love of his life [policewoman Eva Falco] and his unborn child. We'd all seek revenge in that set of circumstances. That storyline with Grace will definitely come back into play...

How has it been acting with your on-screen brother, Luke Jerdy [aka Jesse]?

Great! Luke's brilliant – he's so funny and his work is always so deep. It feels as if you're in good hands. It always helps if you like the person you're working with – it helps you do a better job. Jesse is the only thing that roots Liam in some form of reality.

Will Liam still torment the WAGs even if he finds out who killed his dad?

Well, his family won't ever be repaired. So if he does achieve vengeance, I think he'll still be scarred by it, certainly. And he'll always have trouble trusting anyone with any relationship he has in the future. At the moment, Liam's using psychological warfare on the WAGs – he hasn't gone all out to shoot them. He's just waiting for them to reveal themselves.

Do you think there will ever be romance on the cards for Liam in the future?

His one and only shot was Eva. He has a new perception on relationships and affection. It feels as if that part of him died. So it could happen, but it would depend on the woman.

The truth will out!

Kaye Wragg, aka Essie, teases the beginning of the end for killer Gaskell...

The clock is ticking for Professor John Gaskell this week, as his colleagues finally learn the truth about his unethical use of embryonic stem cells. But what does that mean for all of our favourite characters who know too much about the murdering prof's corruption?

Kaye Wragg, who plays Essie, warns us that viewers will be livid with what happens next!

"Gradually all the key characters involved with the Gaskell story begin to see what is going on – and it becomes a race against time to see who can stop him," shares the star. "There's going to be quite a few people queuing up to give him a piece of their mind, but various others are taken out of the picture for different reasons. It's going to drive the audience mad!"

The penny drops for Jac when she works out that Gaskell's implant could kill her, while Essie faces danger when the nutty professor realises that she knows too much...

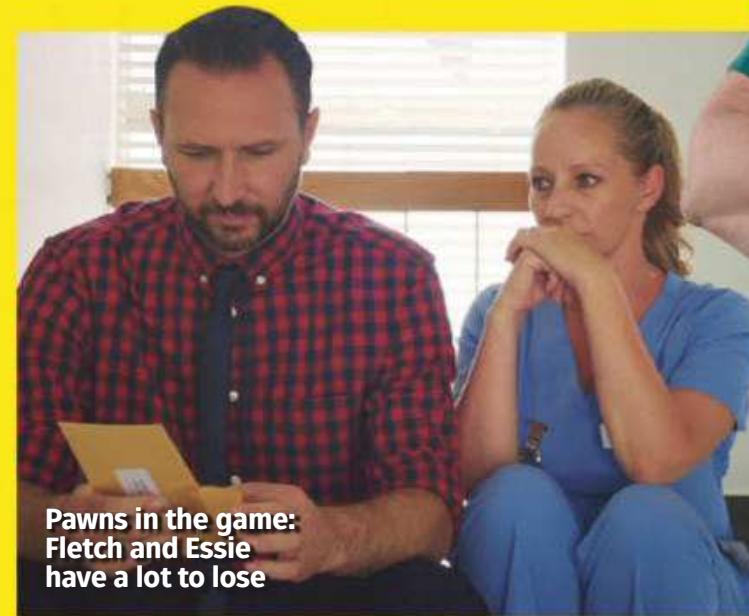

Ethical dilemma: How will Henrik react as the truth about Gaskell comes out?

"Gaskell does something to her – and in a sense Essie becomes one of his victims," explains Kaye. "When she finds out that he has abused her trust, it's heartbreaking. Not just because of her late husband Raf's money that she invested in his project, but for the patients involved."

"I was desperate for Essie to be the one to take him down," adds the star. "It doesn't quite happen like that, unfortunately – but rest assured, he will receive his comeuppance!"

Fletch and Essie
have a lot to lose

The stars joined Inside Soap for a night to remember – and we have a host of exclusive pictures, interviews and tons of gossip, just for you...

In a year that saw hard-hitting plots such as Phelan's killing spree, David's rape and Aidan's suicide, Coronation Street has been accused of being 'too dark'. But the voters don't lie – and the cast might as well be walking on sunshine when they learn that you, the loyal and passionate readers of Inside Soap, have named them as your absolute best of the best...

"It has been Corrie's year – and I don't think anyone else in the room at your party tonight would complain," grins actor Connor McIntyre, who played Pat Phelan. "Everyone is entitled to their opinion and we respect them greatly, but some of our episodes have been as strong as everything else on television. And it's unusual to see anything that intense that early in the evening."

There have been a lot of laughs along the way, too, with the high jinks of fake psychic Rosemary Piper (played by Sophie Thompson), the returns of con man Lewis

"People have been talking about the darker plots, but the comedy is very much woven through it too," points out Julia Goulding, aka Shona.

"I feel like we are in a really solid place at the moment, and it's really exciting that people have taken the time to vote for us. Thank you all so much!"

The stars are adamant that this award is the perfect leaving present for their former boss Kate Oates – new chief of EastEnders – who was sitting with her Walford colleagues, but couldn't resist going up to accept the Best Soap trophy with her pals from the cobbles!

Meanwhile, the Street is preparing to kick off a new chapter now that ex-Emmerdale boss Iain MacLeod is at the helm, and the cast is excited to be launching his era while on a high.

"It's special to me as obviously I'm new to the show in comparison with other people," explains Victoria Ekanoye, who plays Angie. "In August it was a year since I was first on screen, and I know it's been a few years since we have won this award. I'm lucky to have joined when the show is so great, and I just hope it continues!"

BEST ACTOR

David Platt
Coronation Street

"I don't take this win for granted!"

After more than 18 years on the cobbles, Corrie star Jack has finally scooped the coveted Best Actor gong – and given the year that David's had, it's hardly surprising that Inside Soap readers voted for talented Jack in their droves...

Congratulations! Best Actor is the one everyone wants to win...

I suppose it is the one that everyone wants, yeah. I would love to have won Funniest Male, but I wasn't nominated for that award! This is great, though – it's so nice that people voted for me. I don't take that for granted.

How would you sum up your past 12 months?

David's had a terrible year full of darkness and drama, but I've had a great year, getting to do this brilliant storyline. Our lives are very different, so it's nice to go home and live my life.

What's your home life like right now, then?

I live with Colson [Smith], who plays Craig – and that's a challenge! I have to teach him about life and things, and I do his washing. He's like my little project – my nickname is 'Dad'!

Who have you most enjoyed working with?

I have to say Julia [Goulding, aka Shona], because last time I won an award

I forgot to mention her, and that didn't go down well! We have a great relationship off screen too.

Can you tell us what you have been filming recently?

I've been doing a bit of comedy – I think they're trying to keep things light for David at the moment. And I've been told that something big happens at Christmas for the Platts...

Where will you keep your award?

Well it's quite weighty, so it might be good for keeping the balcony door open!

Charity has had a roller-coaster 12 months – she met Ryan, the son she believed had passed away, watched crooked cop Bails go to jail for raping her as a teenager, and fell in love with her new partner Vanessa. And while Charity's been enduring this emotional time, we've been gripped by her heartbreak story. So it's no wonder that Emma scooped our Best Actress gong...

Congratulations, Emma!
How do you feel?

It's really flattering and overwhelming when you get a lot of great feedback. I just find it humbling that people invest in you to that level, and there are no words. I'm in a bit of a cloud and a dream! We've worked so hard, and I'm delighted.

Do you know yet where you might keep your trophy?

I won another award recently – to have won two in row is ridiculous, because I never win anything! – and my son Albert said, "Can I put it in my bedroom and look after it for you?" So both of them will go on the mantlepiece in his room. He's very excited that Mummy has awards.

What's the secret to Charity's success, do you reckon?

Her diversity, perhaps. The fact she can be vile one minute, then crack someone up the next. She has a wicked sense of humour, and I love how cutting and caustic she is. But she has the ability to be a broken child, too. When she opens up, it gives you more to work with.

Can you pick a standout scene from the past 12 months?

That's a hard question, as there have been so many. But I really loved the stuff that I did with James Moore [Ryan] when Charity and Ryan first met.

Do you enjoy Charity's argumentative scenes?

I love them! The last thing that I filmed was a huge row between Charity and Ryan, and James giggled because I went hell for leather. But when you have a really good relationship with somebody, you have to let rip!

"I feel as if I'm in a dream!"

"We're thrilled to have made an impact"

It's not just big stunts that qualify for our Best Show-Stopper Award. When real and important issues are handled as expertly as Shakil and Keegan's knife attack in EastEnders, soaps have the power to change and save lives. And some of the main players of that plot, Shaheen Jafargholi (Shakil), Zack Morris (Keegan) and Lorraine Stanley (Karen), are utterly thrilled to be crowned your winners...

What does winning this award mean to you all?

Shaheen For this story to have received so much recognition is amazing. The main thing is that we have made an impact, and the award is a lovely bonus.

Zack It's a real problem that you hear about all the time, but to see it on EastEnders has helped raise awareness.

Lorraine It's been the highlight of the year for us.

Was it tough working so closely with the families of real-life victims?

Shaheen We were told months ahead that we would work closely with the Brooke Kinsella Trust. Zack and I met Brooke [who played Walford's Kelly Taylor], who is an amazing person and so helpful – which made us even more determined to get the story right.

Lorraine I was there when they filmed the documentary-style scenes with the real-life families of victims of knife crime, but when I watched it at home, I still just sobbed and sobbed. I have so much respect for all those families who put themselves out there. It's every mother's worst nightmare.

Shaheen, you've joined the cast of Casualty – but are you still haunted by Shakil's death?

Shaheen I remember finding out that Shaki would be killed and my first thought was, 'I've never died before – how do I even think about doing that?' But a huge sense of responsibility came with it, so I was conscious of not playing it up too much just for the sake of drama.

Keegan is struggling to cope. Will he ever be the same again?

Zack He's made some bad decisions – but when does he ever not? He's bad, yet we still love him!

Lorraine You are going to witness how Keegan and Karen navigate this. You don't often see the aftermath of how this affects people, so I'm glad EastEnders is doing it.

It was the soap death that no one saw coming, but Shayne Ward's triumph in our Best Exit category just goes to show that the memory of Corrie's Aidan Connor continues to live long in your hearts...

"This award means so much to me," insists the star, returning to the world of soap for one night only. "It's not easy going to places that you hope never to go to in real life, and that last scene where Aidan was in the pub, staring into space and completely zoned out – we all know what that feels like. The public got behind it, so this award is for them."

Shayne looks very different now that he has a thick head of hair and has grown a beard – after signing up to appear in psychological thriller film Stairs, which is due out next year. Meanwhile, his Inside Soap award is to take pride of place at home, where he lives with other half Sophie Austin – best known for playing Hollyoaks' Lindsey Roscoe, aka the 'Gloved Hand Killer' – and their young daughter, Willow.

"I recently built a cabinet for my mum – but now that we've moved into our new home, I've had to break the news that I'm taking it back to put my award in!" laughs Shayne. "The thing that I'm most proud of is doing this story for Coronation Street."

This isn't the first time that Shayne has won an Inside Soap award, of course – he was crowned your Best Newcomer in 2016, so it's rather fitting that you've sent him off in style, too.

"I couldn't come to the awards that year, so this is my first time at the party," grins the actor. "Sophie has been before with Hollyoaks and told me that I would love it, so I'll be the first on the dance floor, just you try and stop me!"

"I'll have a couple of drinks, and then loads of coffee tomorrow on the train and I'll be fine," adds Shayne. "I have Irish blood running through my veins, so I can handle it. I'll always be one of the Connor family!"

Matty's return to the Barton family fold – after moving away from the village as Hannah – took a lot of guts. Star Ash Palmisciano has embraced his new Dales role with positivity and respect, as both he and Matty have been welcomed with open arms. So, for delighted Ash, being voted the winner of our Best Newcomer trophy is the icing on the cake following a fantastic year...

"I was surprised enough just to be nominated for the award!" grins the 28-year-old. "Coming into Emmerdale has been completely amazing, and I was so happy to see my name with all those other brilliant people. So I'm absolutely chuffed to bits to have won. My mum was with me when I got the call, and she had a little cry. I'm over the moon!"

Having transitioned himself, Ash was well aware of the responsibilities of playing such a groundbreaking role – and it's not a challenge he's taken lightly.

"I want Matty to take over the Woolpack!"

"This job is a dream come true for me – I know that sounds cheesy," he beams. "But having a platform, and using it for a positive purpose, means that I get the opportunity to make changes and help people. I'm just getting started, but it's something I'm passionate about."

While it's already been a massive year for Ash, as well as Matty, the actor assures us that there's plenty more drama to come, and he just can't wait for it.

"Matty's on a journey, and he'll be taking the audience with him," shares the star. "He'll have to start making some serious changes with his transition, and going through some stuff with acceptance. But also, with Matty working in the Woolpack now, I'm hoping that he'll end up taking it over! I don't think it'll happen any time soon, but that would be absolutely amazing..."

BEST NEWCOMER

Bar wars aside, Ash can't thank Inside Soap readers enough for their continued support – and admits that his loyal fans mean everything to him.

"Being accepted and supported means such a lot to me – so a massive thank you to everyone who voted," he grins. "I really couldn't do this job without them. I read everyone's messages, and I just want to say that it's that regular encouragement that keeps me going, and encourages me to work hard every day. Thank you so much – I promise that I'll buy you all a drink one day!"

"I'm relieved that 'Robron' have stopped arguing!"

Growing up on one of the soaps is no easy task – but star Isobel Steele has had no trouble taking everything in her stride, with no storyline too big for the 17-year-old Emmerdale actress to get her teeth into since joining the show in 2016. In the past 12 months alone, her alter ego Liv has hit the bottle, found herself behind bars – all while doing her level best to calm the volatile relationship of her brother Aaron and his husband Robert! So, Isobel is a truly deserving winner of our Best Young Actor gong...

Nice work, Isobel – you must be pretty chuffed with picking up this award!

Thank you! It means more than anything, because it's the viewers who've voted. Awards like this are great, because it lets us actors know that the viewers are interested and engaged, and that they like your character. But whether I win or not, I just get on with it, because it's my job and I really love it!

Have you got anywhere in mind to keep your award?

Well, I don't have that much room on my mantelpiece – not because it's full of awards or anything, there's just loads of random stuff like candles and plants on there – so I might have to think about finding another place for it at home.

What would you say you have felt most proud of over the past 12 months at Emmerdale?

To be honest, I'm never really happy with my performance – I always fault it. But I'm quite proud of the alcohol storyline that Liv's had. It's hard playing drunk when I'm only 17, but I really wanted to get it right, and make sure that I'm playing it in a believable way.

What do you think is the secret to Liv's massive success on the show?

I honestly think that it's the relationship that she has with her brother Aaron, and the way that she holds herself in certain situations. Liv and Aaron's bond is something that I personally haven't seen before in another soap. The closeness between Danny [Miller, who plays Aaron] and I is genuine, and I think people really enjoy seeing that on screen.

Are you pleased that Robert and Aaron have finally sorted themselves out and become a married couple?

Yes, absolutely – I'm just hugely relieved to move on from 'Robron' arguing! That could get a little bit tiresome, because everyone is really rooting for them to be together, and I'm really rooting for them to be together, and Liv is always right in the middle of whatever drama Aaron and Robert are going through. So it's just a lot easier for Liv now that they're happy!

“The bar is always rising”

It's the very first time that Doctors has scooped our Best Daytime Soap prize, so the Letherbridge lovelies have plenty to celebrate! And Elisabeth Dermot Walsh (Zara), Matthew Chambers (Daniel), Bharti Patel (Ruhma), Laura Rollins (Ayesha), along with newbie Ali Bastian (Becky Clarke), couldn't be more grateful to their loyal viewers' fantastic support...

This is a first for Doctors – so how does it feel to be the Best Daytime Soap?

Elisabeth It's such a momentous occasion...

Laura We wouldn't have been able to do it without our viewers' support, though – we love you!

Matthew Mwah, mwah!

Elisabeth We have the best fans ever – loyal, wonderful watchers who have turned out for us and voted.

What are you most proud of this year?

Laura I'm very proud of our Mental Health Awareness Week in March, it was brilliant.

Ali I'm only just joining the show, but I'm so delighted to join such a wonderful cast – especially on a night when we've won an award. Although I can't take any credit for that...

Matthew We're working great guns all year round, pumping out an incredible volume of content, and I'm really proud of everybody on the team.

Bharti The bar is always rising, and we rise with it, definitely.

Matthew And I'm proud of Elisabeth, having to put up with my jokes all day...

Will we see you all hit the dance floor later?

Matthew Rollins will be first out there!

Laura Quite possibly...

Matthew Elisabeth and I first came to the Inside Soap Awards nine or so years ago, and I recall that the dance floor was jumping. We had a great time.

Elisabeth I was designated driver that year, but I'm not driving tonight!

BEST DAYTIME STAR

Ray Meagher

Alf Stewart
Home and Away

"I'm grateful to all the UK fans!"

Would you believe that Home and Away stalwart Ray Meagher (aka Alf) has never won Inside Soap's Best Daytime Star gong? Luckily, the actor finally got his hands on the award this year, as the Summer Bay soap celebrates its 30th anniversary...

Hi Ray! What does it mean to you to win this award in Home and Away's anniversary year?

The 30th anniversary has been pretty special, so winning this award just adds to that. I've been lucky enough to come to the UK quite a few times, and I've met a lot of the fans over there. It's just incredible that a little show like ours reaches so many people on the other side of the world.

Why do you think people still love Alf so much?

He's a bit of a rough diamond, but with a heart of gold. He says it as he sees it, although he's not always right. I still really love playing Alf.

It's a shame you weren't able to make it to the awards party...

Sadly on this occasion, I was busy doing a live show [Ray is currently starring in a production of Priscilla Queen Of The Desert], and it's not in my DNA to miss a show. But I would have loved to have come over – I think London is such a great place.

Do you have a message for the people who voted for you to win this award?

Thank you, thank you, thank you! I'm very grateful, because Alf's not all warm and fuzzy – he can be very abrupt, and for people to see past that and vote for him is great. I think I speak on behalf of the whole cast when I say that we're all incredibly grateful for the support of the UK people, as well as everyone at Channel 5 for all the work they put into promoting the show.

Super-villain Pat Phelan may have finally got his comeuppance this year, but there's still time for star Connor to scoop our Best Bad Boy gong one last time! And he couldn't have asked for a better swansong...

This is the third year in a row that you've picked up the Best Bad Boy trophy!

I know! I'm always delighted when I get any nominations, but three years on the trot – and against some serious competition – I'm delighted.

Corrie also won Best Shock Twist for Anna coming back and killing Pat...

What a great Corrie ending! Debbie Rush returning as Anna was just beautiful, wasn't it? It was poetic, and so right that she was the one who came back and saw him off.

Did you really give it your all for Pat's exit story?

I always give it my all anyway. I overstayed my welcome as Phelan, but the public really took him to their hearts. Even though he was vile and they hated him, they'd say, "We don't want him to go yet!"

What's been your highlight of this past 12 months?

All the stuff by the lighthouse. There were 90 crew out there for four or five nights, and that was a real investment. And I thought it was a great episode.

Do people still stop you to chat about Phelan?

That's never going to go away, is it? The thing about Pat was that he had this other quality to him, people were rooting for his good side to come out and win over. There was that constant struggle when you saw those gentle moments with Eileen.

Is it nice to still be talking about Phelan when you left a few months back?

Yeah, it's been an absolute treat – this will be the last time I'm with the Corrie cast in this context. It's great to be here and see everyone again.

What's next for you?

It will take a while for the Phelan thing to die off – but my next job is panto with Les Dennis [formerly Corrie's Michael Rodwell]. My ugly sister is called Phelena and Les is Michaela – there will be lots of Corrie references!

"The public really took Pat Phelan to their hearts!"

"This is the first award I've won!"

Kayla may have only been on the cobbles for a short amount of time, but she certainly made a big impact – big enough to earn star Mollie our award for Best Bad Girl this year...

How does it feel to be our Best Bad Girl?

Well, I've never won anything before, so it's amazing! I'm really happy to be Best Bad Girl. Kayla was meant to be bad, so it means I did my job right!

Why do you think viewers loved Kayla so much?

Everyone loves a bad girl, don't they? As much as people hate those characters and get quite frustrated with them, soap would be really boring without them!

What's been the highlight of the year for you?

Definitely landing the job on Corrie. Acting is the only thing I have wanted to do since I was seven years old, so finally being able to do that was phenomenal.

What moment were you most proud of this year?

I had a message from a viewer who said that she'd just found out that her dad wasn't who she thought he was, and that watching Kayla had really helped her through it. That was my proudest moment.

What scenes were the most difficult to film?

The ones where Kayla confronted her dad were intense. And to be honest, the kiss with Colson [Smith, aka Craig] made me nervous as it was my first-ever screen kiss!

Where will you be keeping your Inside Soap trophy?

Somewhere that everyone can see it when they come into the house – I'll display it proudly!

Do you have a message for the people who voted for you to win this award?

Thank you so much, I am forever grateful – you've made my day! I'm back to auditioning for new roles now, and I can officially say that I am an award-winning actress – that has to help me!

Party with the stars!

Our guests danced the night away at this year's Inside Soap Awards...

After all the trophies had been handed out to the thrilled winners, the party got under way in earnest – and our spies were on hand to bring you all the gossip...

EastEnders' Luisa Bradshaw-White and Kellie Bright (Tina and Linda) arrived in a great mood. "The car here was one of the best journeys I've ever had!" chuckled Kellie. "We had Heart 80s on and we were singing along! We're worried that we might have peaked already!"

Holby's Kaye Wragg (Essie) and Doctors' Ali Bastian (Becky)

Hollyoaks' Adam Woodward (Brody) looked well-groomed on the red carpet, but there was certainly no showbiz pampering for this lad...

"I finished filming, and had 20 minutes to catch the train," he revealed. "Then I got changed in the train toilet on the way here! All the glamour!"

Tameka Empson (EastEnders' Kim) was delighted to catch up with her former on-screen love Charles Venn (Ray Dixon). The pair were once an item in Walford, but have also both been Strictly Come Dancing contenders. So a trip round our dance floor was on the cards...

"I've still got my Strictly vibe, even though I'm not in Strictly now – I'm not bitter!" laughed Tameka. "But I'm sure I'll manage a little go!"

Charley Webb (Emmerdale's Debbie) was also ready to dance. "When people are asked in interviews, 'What's an Emmerdale party?' they always reply, 'Charley on the dance floor!'" she told us. "But I'm happy to lead the way. I hate getting ready for these sort of things, but I love the dancing bit!"

EastEnders' Jamie Borthwick (Jay) told us a family secret... "Charlie Winter [Hunter] and I are family, did you know that?" he shared. "My great uncle is called Charlie Winter, so when they said a kid was coming in called Charlie Winter, I was like, 'Seriously?' Turns out we're, like, second cousins!"

Eden Taylor-Draper

"We've been filming some choir scenes," EastEnders'

(Damon) informed us. "She's got brown hair, but that's all I'm telling you!"

"I've just filmed a scene with Graham and Cain today," Emmerdale's Jeff Hordley (Cain) shared. "They are definitely locking horns!"

For EastEnders' Ricky Champ (Stuart), being able to attend the awards ceremony came as an unexpected, yet rather lovely surprise.

"Funnily enough, I didn't think I could come originally," he revealed. "But then my plans changed, and so I was free after all! I might even celebrate by having a little dance later!"

The bash was a chance for the stars to catch up with old pals – and James Burrows (Corrie's Dr Ali) was thrilled to be reunited with fellow Weatherfield killer Connor McIntyre (Pat Phelan).

"I've not seen Connor in a while, so we had a drink and a chat about all that," he noted. "He just said, 'Keep doing what you are doing, my man'. Wise words!"

We were starstruck on the day of the awards, but it seems the stars were too! "We saw Eddie Redmayne on the train down from Liverpool," shared Hollyoaks' Greg Finnegan (James). "He was sat really near to us!"

Julia Goulding (Corrie's Shona) knew her co-star Jack P Shepherd (David) would be on the dance floor, but she had some advice... "Jack does a great little Irish jig," she told us. "But I've told him not to get on there with his award – they weigh a ton and have a lot of sharp edges. I was walking downstairs with mine last year, and thought, 'If I trip now, I'll kill someone with this!'"

TIME ON THEIR HANDS

JOE LYCETT AND ALISON HAMMOND ARE CLOCK-WATCHING IN A NEW GAME SHOW...

As anyone who's ever queued in the post office knows, time is a strange and elastic thing that plays by its own rules. In that spirit, this new game show has done away with timers for its question rounds, and replaced them with something a little bit more fun: contestants will have the amount of time that it takes for a specified task to be performed, like completing a Rubik's cube underwater or hanging out a football team's shirts to dry.

The trick is in figuring out which of these tasks will take the longest, and therefore give them the most questions. Inside TV caught up with host Joe Lycett and referee Alison Hammond to find out how it's all going to work...

Tell us about the show...

Joe Neil Galloway and Jimmy Baker are the guys who came up with it – one of them was making some toast and said, “While the toast is going, ask me some questions”, so that’s how they came up with the format, and now it’s a full eight-part series on BBC1! Telly’s mad for that. It’s simple and well-produced, like all the best formats should be, and with two Brummies, which is always essential for a good TV show, I find.

Alison, you're the one performing the tasks in round one. Did you discover lots of new talents?

Alison I think I did. I didn't realise I had so much talent – there was not one task I didn't enjoy doing. I discovered that I can pick up pom-poms with my nose, using Vaseline, and obviously that comes in handy because I do like to have pom-poms on my jacket.

Joe There are lots of things I love about Alison, but one of them is how she had to say things to the contestants that were totally insane – like the one where you were straining baked beans through a pair of tights, and you go, “I love beans, but I hate the bits”.

Were the contestants ever distracted by the timer challenges while they were answering questions?

Alison I think they get a pep talk beforehand saying, “Listen, Alison’s going to be doing the timer so you need to focus on Joe and the questions”, as it is quite offputting. But I love that!

Bean there, done that: Alison gets her hands dirty in the new show

Joe I didn't really get to watch Alison while we were filming it, as I was asking the questions and focusing on getting those right. I've watched a couple of episodes now, though, and some of the stuff that she had to do is just so funny. The way she threw herself into stuff, the energy is just brilliant.

Couch POTATO

Actress Eileen Walsh tells us her dream viewing...

Succession

Have you seen Succession?

Oh my God! My husband took our kids away to France for a 10-day visit thing, because I was doing a play at the Donmar and couldn't go anywhere, and I had such a lovely time. I would go home every night, have a glass of wine and watch Succession – it was addictive!

Anything Sharon Horgan touches is genius, but I also love Julia Davis – she makes me cry with laughter. I loved Nighty Night and Camping, and she has a podcast with Vicki Pepperdine called Dear Joan And Jericha, about two self-help gurus answering letters that come in – it's totally hilarious.

The film I always go back to is Heartburn, the Nora Ephron movie. I just think it's moving, I love the soundtrack and the performances – Jack Nicholson and Meryl Streep are stunning in it, and the script is just so touching.

I'm addicted to the French TV show Spiral. I just love that it's sexy without trying to be, and the acting is always superb. I think it's so clever, and I can't wait for the next series.

When I was growing up we had two main channels, RTE1 and RTE2, and they bought in a lot of American stuff, so I grew up with Cagney & Lacey and Hill Street Blues – oh, and Thirtysomething! That was a life you wanted for yourself. I must have only been about 14, but I really remember thinking, 'That's so cool!'

THERE SHE GOES | BBC4 TUESDAY

JUST WHEN WE THOUGHT we'd seen everything parenting sitcoms had to offer, along comes this gently groundbreaking new comedy about a family whose daughter has a rare chromosomal disorder, inspired by writer Shaun Pye's real-life experiences. It's by no means a flattering portrait – parents

Simon and Emily (played perfectly by David Tennant and Jessica Hynes) are shown in flashbacks frustrated and struggling to cope, and even in the present day they're often on the back foot – but it's still a joyful, honest, and genuinely funny portrayal of a situation we rarely get to see on TV.

MARCUS WAREING, GREGG WALLACE AND MONICA GALETTI ARE BACK TO FIND THE BEST OF THE BEST...

Just a few weeks ago, we were watching John Torode and Gregg Wallace testing the culinary skills of the stars on Celebrity MasterChef, but now we want to see what the pros have to offer. Handy, then, that Gregg's back along with Monica Galetti and Marcus Wareing for a

Silver platter: The chefs are ready to see what the professionals are made of new series of MasterChef: The Professionals this week! Let's find out what's in store...

What can we expect from this series?

Monica Excitement, drama and exceptional cooking! What makes the Professionals series so exciting is that for these chefs, it's their trade, and they just want to prove what they can do, how creative they can be, and the extent of their skill set. We expect them to impress!

Gregg You will see incredible passion and drive, and more diversity. If you want to see who the upcoming culinary talent in Britain is, you need to watch this – these are our future Michelin-star chefs.

What's different about the show this year?

Monica There's a new test in the quarter-finals this year – Marcus and I select one of our favourite ingredients, and the chefs are challenged to invent a dish centred on it. The skill is to take an ordinary ingredient such as a potato, and make an extraordinary dish that elevates the key ingredient.

Marcus I think they were all surprised at how simple it sounded but how complicated it could be! It was fascinating because we would choose an ingredient and, for the chefs, it was a case of working everything out around that and it being the standout flavour.

PAUL MARTIN HELPS WOULD-BE ANTIQUE DEALERS LEARN THE TRICKS OF THE TRADE...

We like to think we've had a pretty sound education in the antiques trade, thanks to BBC1's daytime schedule – but what if we wanted to turn that knowledge into a business? Now BBC1 has the answer to that too, as Paul Martin from Flog It! guides aspiring antique dealers through their first steps in the industry in this new series.

"We are putting people to the test to see if they have what it takes," says Paul. "They obviously have a passion for collectibles, and in this show, they can actually go out to try and become dealers, and it's my job to impart my knowledge on them."

In each episode, Paul will meet two newcomers in an antiques centre where he'll give them an idea of what to look for, before challenging them to find something they believe they can sell for a profit. Then they'll face their first real test – buying items at auction without Paul there to hold their hand...

They really had to understand what they were trying to do.

Are there any unusual cooking techniques making an appearance?

"This is the first time the BBC has people using their own money, rather than the BBC's money!" points out the host. "They have to stay focused and not overbid. A lot of people bid on lots that they didn't even want as no one else was buying, and there was a reason for that! You have to keep a client in mind and stay within your budget – don't get carried away!"

RUNNING SCARED

MAX IRONS REVEALS WHY HE LOVES HIS ROLE IN A NEW THRILLER – APART FROM THE SHOES...

Last week's opening double-bill of US drama Condor already has us enthralled, after CIA analyst Joe Turner narrowly escaped a massacre that wiped out the rest of his team – and is now wanted for their murder. We caught up with Max Irons, who plays Joe, to find out what lies ahead for his character.

"Often you're presented with a protagonist in episode one where you get who he is, what he stands for and what he believes in," says the star. "Whereas when you come across Joe, he's a young guy who has a set of principles that haven't been tested by real-life adversity, so it charts his transformation."

One of the reasons that Max was keen to take on this part was because he felt Condor tackled its subject more thoughtfully than many other shows in this genre.

"There's a lot of ideological exploration," he shares. "One man's freedom-fighter is another man's terrorist – it depends what side of the fence you're on. Time and effort is spent on the backgrounds and motivating factors behind each character on this show."

However, there was one aspect of the project that Max wasn't quite so keen on – Joe's choice of footwear, considering the amount of time he spends running from those who want him dead...

"By take nine or 10, I was in agony!" he recalls. "I'm not a runner, so running – like really sprinting – in leather-soled shoes? Oof! That will put you in pain real fast!"

Friends or foes?: Can Joe trust these men? Or can he only rely on himself?

KILLING EVE | BBC1 9.25PM

Eve of destruction

This slick, hilarious thriller has been the highlight of our past eight Saturdays, so it pains us to say that tonight's episode is the last in the current series. But the good news is that series two is currently being filmed and the BBC has already acquired the rights to show it, so at least we know that there's more on the way.

For now, Villanelle is currently on the run with Konstantin's daughter Irina as her hostage (who even Konstantin himself describes as "so annoying"), and she's planning to use Anna as a means to get to Eve. Eventually, Villanelle makes contact with Eve and they agree to meet in a café – but is this really something that can be politely sorted over a cup of tea and a slice of honey cake?

THE KENNEDYS: A FATAL AMBITION | Channel 5 9PM

Regional variations

They're one of America's best-known dynasties, having produced a president, an attorney general and four members of the United States Congress – but they've also been dealt so many hardships that "the Kennedy curse" has its own entry on Wikipedia. This two-part documentary interviews family members, friends and experts, as well as delving into rarely-seen archive footage, to explore the impact that these various incidents have had on the Kennedys. Tonight's episode covers the botched lobotomy of Rosemary Kennedy, and of course the assassination of President John F Kennedy.

BECK: FLESH & BLOOD | BBC4 9PM

"Isn't it a relief to be retired?" asks Beck's daughter Inger to him near the start of tonight's episode – and that's about as clear a clue as they come that he will be back on duty pretty smartish. (That and the fact that the show hasn't been renamed Hovlund, despite Steinar's best efforts in the interim.) Sure enough, a missing persons case linked with a terrorism investigation soon catches Beck's interest.

GAME OF THRONES | Sky Atlantic 9PM

2019 and the final season still seem an agonisingly long way away, so we're keeping our spirits up with our season six rewatch. Tonight, Tommen makes an announcement that leaves Cersei dismayed, and Tyrion is cracking jokes...

SHETLAND | Drama 10PM

A repeat run of the third series begins tonight – the point when Shetland switched from two-parters to stories that spanned an entire series, and became all the better for it. DI Perez investigates when a young man disappears on a ferry.

Setting the stage

You might think that things have been a little bit quiet on the Sheridan Smith front lately – as far as the small screen is concerned – but she's not been twiddling her thumbs. As well as starring as Fanny Brice on stage in the musical Funny Girl, she's also been working on her second album, A Northern Soul, which was released on Friday.

Away from work, she's also been the subject of a fair few tabloid headlines, and in this one-off special Sheridan will be talking about the personal battles she's been through recently, as she returns to her home town of Doncaster for the first time since the death of her father, and prepares for a one-night-only gig at the Bentley Top Club, where she used to sing with her parents.

DOING MONEY | BBC2 9PM

Taken without consent

This one-off drama serves as a timely reminder that sometimes the most pernicious crimes are the ones that we can't see. The fact-based film tells the story of Ana (played by Anca Dumitriu), a young Romanian woman snatched from the streets of London in broad daylight and trafficked to Ireland, where she is used as a sex slave in a series of 'pop-up' brothels. Downton Abbey star Allen Leech (Branson) plays DI Dougie Grant, the officer at the centre of the investigation.

"He's a man of incredible integrity," reveals Allen. "He certainly took on the cause of what he was doing with great gusto. He worked so tirelessly and so hard on something that is so important – I felt a great sense of duty to do right by it."

The royal visit

HARRY & MEGHAN: THE FIRST TOUR | ITV 9PM

Regional variations

Naturally, there has been a great deal of excitement about the newly minted Duke and Duchess of Sussex setting off on their first official royal tour, though we think we'll wait for the announcement of their final tour and subsequent residency in Las Vegas. Hang on, are we getting the royals confused with Cher again? We keep doing that. Anyway, in this programme ITV News' royal editor Chris Ship follows the newly-weds on their 16-day trip through the South Pacific, with stops in Fiji, Australia, Tonga and New Zealand – with time to attend the Invictus Games in Sydney, of course.

OUTLANDER | Amazon Prime Video

The fourth season of the time-travelling romance arrives today, just hours after its premiere in the US last night. At the end of season three, we left Claire and Jamie shipwrecked in Georgia while sailing back to Scotland from Jamaica. Pirate and smuggler Stephen Bonnet wants the pair's help, while Claire fills in Jamie on American history, and he wonders whether it's worth sticking around...

SUPERRGIRL | Sky One 8PM

Now that we've met Supergirl's newest foe, Agent Liberty, we find ourselves wondering what his deal is. Tonight's episode should help fill in the blanks as it explores the anti-alien activist's backstory, including his relationship with his father.

WW1: THE LAST TOMMIES | BBC4 9PM

To mark the centenary of the end of the First World War, this three-part series (continuing tomorrow and Wednesday) charts the stories of 20 men and women – now in their 90s or older – from the outbreak of fighting until the Armistice.

Fitting the bill

We don't like to talk too early, but this has all the makings of our new favourite show. It's simple, but fiendishly clever: in each episode, five celebrities who you wouldn't generally expect to see hanging out will go to a restaurant to have dinner together. At the start of the evening, they all put their credit cards in a bowl in the middle of the table (not their car keys though, it's not that sort of show), and during dinner they'll play a series of games. Each contestant who wins a game gets to remove their card, and the last celeb remaining picks up the tab for the whole lot.

Hoping to avoid getting stuck with the bill tonight are Ed Gamble, Ellie Taylor, Carol Vorderman, Anton Du Beke and Rylan Clark-Neal.

You may have noticed a double helping of Carol Vorderman on this page, and that's because tonight is also the night when she'll be compering the awards show dedicated to celebrating the very best of British. This year's inspirational winners include the British divers who were at the heart of the mission to rescue the youth football team trapped in a flooded cave in Thailand, a young widow who is devoted to tackling mental health issues in rural areas, and a schoolboy who became the youngest person to climb the 450ft Old Man of Hoy in Orkney, to raise money for his terminally ill mother.

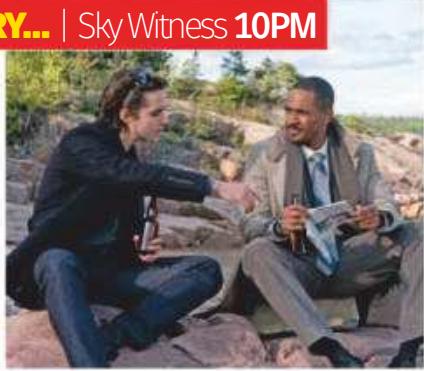

SALUTING DAD'S ARMY | Gold 8PM

The very first episode of Dad's Army aired way back in 1968, and to celebrate 50 years of the Home Guard comedy, Alexander Armstrong hosts this four-part series filled with behind-the-scenes gems.

Tonight's opener is all about the inspiration behind the show and its journey to the small screen. Members of the production team and actors from the earliest episodes will be sharing their memories.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE HARRY... | Sky Witness 10PM

Tonight's finale reveals who was really behind the murder of Nola Kellergan in 1975, and how the titular Harry was tied to the whole thing. We might miss the show, but we won't miss trying to fit that awkwardly long title into this magazine.

THE DEUCE | Sky Atlantic 10PM

Tonight also marks our final visit to New York's seediest district for the current season. No information about the finale was available at the time of writing, but we assume it's still a show you have to be really careful watching on the train.

GRAND DESIGNS: HOUSE OF THE YEAR | Channel 4 9PM

Structured analysis

If the swansong of the most recent series of Grand Designs last week let you wondering how on earth you're going to satisfy your architectural fascination on Wednesday nights from now on, we have some very good news for you:

Kevin McCloud is still here for another four weeks, along with Damion Burrows and Michelle Ogundehin, to nose around the Royal Institute of British Architects houses of the year.

Tonight the trio will be looking at the first five homes in the running for the prize, including a controversial glass modernist building in Henley, and a semi-detached home in Newcastle built by two neighbours working together. But which one have the judges chosen for a spot on the final shortlist?

A runway success

Perhaps you're expecting Heathrow, or LAX, or Dubai, but nope: the busiest airport in the world for the last two decades has actually been Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta, due to its role as a major connecting hub for domestic US flights. Last year, 104 million passengers passed through, and a flight took off or landed on average every 15 seconds. This 90-minute special reveals the complex technology – and not to forget the hard-working staff – who work to keep the airport running 24/7, and just how easily it can all be brought to a standstill by passengers...

TASKMASTER | Dave 9PM

Just a handful of challenges stand between our five comic challengers and the chance to permanently get their hands on a golden replica of Greg Davies' magnificent bonce in tonight's grand final. Those challenges include a task within a task, a search for a boiled egg, and potentially one of Greg's favourite tasks of all time: a mission to physically recreate a classic computer game. Who will emerge as series champion: James, Jessica, Kerry, Phil or Rhod?

DC'S LEGENDS OF TOMORROW | Sky One 8PM

The team travels back in time to the Salem witch trials for tonight's adventure, and Sara is worried that Zari is getting too emotionally invested in helping a woman accused of being a witch. But that's not their only problem...

GREY'S ANATOMY | Sky Witness 9PM

One of Meredith's patients turns out to be a matchmaking specialist – is this a sign that it's time for Mer to get back into the dating game? Richard, meanwhile, has his tolerance tested by a patient who seems drunk, but swears he isn't.

PRINCE, SON AND HEIR: CHARLES AT 70 | BBC1 9PM

DON'T Miss!

A prince among men

It's a bumper week for royal watchers on telly, so if Monday's Harry and Meghan documentary on ITV left you hungry for more, BBC1 has got you covered with this film commissioned to mark Prince Charles' 70th birthday. Film-maker John Bridcut has had exclusive access to the Prince of Wales over the last 12 months, both at work and at home, and has spoken to those who know him best: his wife Camilla, Duchess of Cornwall and his sons William and Harry. Having spent over 50 years in public life, the Prince has campaigned for important issues such as global warming, organic produce and youth opportunity. And in this film, he reveals that he believes there is still a lot of work left for him to do...

DON'T

YOUNG SHELDON | E4 8.30PM

This Big Bang Theory prequel was a pleasant surprise in its first run, showing real warmth and empathy in telling the tale of a child prodigy growing up in a small town that doesn't quite know what to do with him. It's back for a second season tonight, and the junior genius takes the fridge apart in order to stop an annoying noise – only to get saddled with the repair bill, forcing him to get a paper round.

THE BIG BANG THEORY | E4 8PM

Meanwhile, the parent series takes the opportunity to clear up an apparent continuity error when childhood best friend Tam (who we've met in Young Sheldon) visits, and the rest of the gang wonder why Sheldon's never talked about him before.

THE RUSSELL HOWARD HOUR | Sky One 10PM

Russell returns for a second series of the show that gives us a satirical rundown of the week's news. There's also a new segment on offer called Live Forever, in which he and his comic chums try out some 'life-prolonging' activities.

Parental controls: off

In this new series, four families take on a challenge that would send a shiver down the spine of many parents: leaving the children alone at home (hence the title) for four days. Just to be clear, they won't be leaving themselves open to a charge of abandonment: the house is rigged with cameras so the production team can monitor things at all times, and there are independent experts ready to step in at a moment's notice. But there are no adults actually on the premises...

First to take part is Natalie from Surrey, whose two teenage daughters, along with her partner's son from a previous marriage, have the run of the house for a long weekend. What sort of state will it be in when she returns?

A sleeper hit

THE HEIST | Sky One 9PM

Could you steal £250,000? Don't worry, this isn't a trap, and we're not working for the police on the sly – that's the question being posed by this new series. 10 ordinary, law-abiding citizens are given the challenge of stealing the loot from a cash-in-transit van. If successful, they get £25k each, but not only do they have to pull off the heist itself, they also have to cover their tracks for the next two weeks, as a crack team of detectives comes looking for them...

WESTSIDE | Netflix

This new unscripted series follows a group of LA-based musicians as they prepare for an ensemble performance at a nightclub showcase, and hope to make it big. We'll also see them dealing with the realities of trying to make ends meet...

THE SINNER | Netflix

The American crime drama returns for a second series with a new case for detective Harry Ambrose. This time he's heading to his hometown in rural New York, where an 11-year-old boy is alleged to have murdered his parents.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

RACHEL ADEDEJI (Lisa Loveday, Hollyoaks)

IN Rachel has been away from Hollyoaks on maternity leave for most of this year, having given birth to her first child. She was last seen on screen way back in December. However, she's about to make her return next week – and Lisa is in for a huge shock when she discovers that in her absence, her dad Louis has married her Aunt Martine! Lisa has been away in Thailand, but what secrets of her own could she be hiding?

Tuesday 13 November

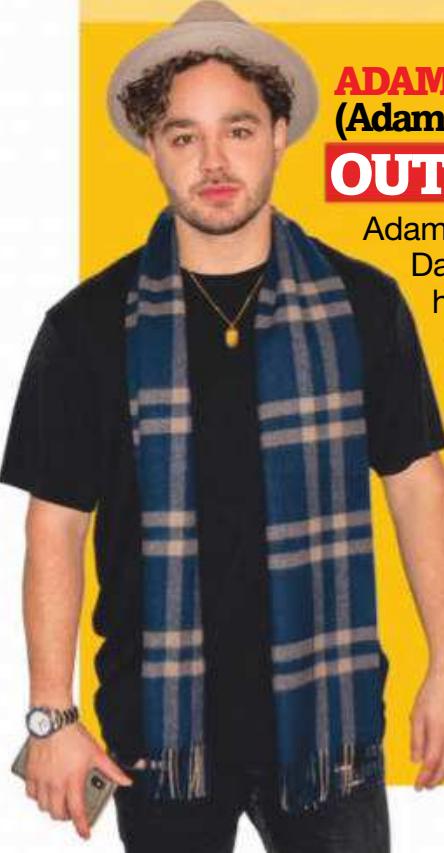

DEBRA STEPHENSON (Charlotte, Doctors)

IN It's been quite a long time since we last saw Debra in the world of soap. Corrie fans may remember her two-year stint as Frankie Baldwin – wife of Bradley Walsh's Danny – between 2004 and 2006. We don't yet know a huge amount about the character she will be playing in Doctors, except that she's someone who's spent the past 12 years in prison, and is harbouring a few secrets! Early next year

ADAM THOMAS (Adam Barton, Emmerdale)

OUT There's been lots of speculation that we could be about to see Adam Barton make his return to the Dales, now that the information that he didn't kill evil Emma has come out. Adam has been on the run since the start of this year, lying about the murder to protect the true culprit – his mum, Moira! Actor Adam Thomas recently responded to the rumours on ITV's Lorraine. "No, I'm not going back to Emmerdale," he told guest host Carol Vorderman, adding, "Not yet, anyway..." Can we hope that we'll see him back one day? Later

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

WHO'S MEETING THE DOCTOR?

The new series of Doctor Who has been going great guns on Sunday nights, and there are lots of familiar faces in the guest cast. Hot on the heels of former Corrie star Shobna Gulati (Sunita), who turned up in last week's fourth episode, comes another ex-cobbles name. Julia Hesmondhalgh (Hayley Cropper) makes her own appointment with the Doctor in a few weeks' time, as this rather stern-looking character!

BOHEMIAN BEN!

Former EastEnder Ben Hardy (Peter Beale) plays legendary Queen drummer Roger Taylor in the just-opened big screen biopic Bohemian Rhapsody. "I was drumming 10 hours a day!" he reveals. "I was trying to focus on how Roger drums, rather than just being good at playing the drums."

CHERYL DINGLE?

It's been a good few years since we saw Cheryl Fergison as Walford's tragic Heather Trott, but the star wants to make a soap comeback! "I live up north now," she said during her recent appearance on ITV's Good Morning Britain. "I love it! I don't miss London, but I wouldn't mind getting into one of those soap things please. Yes please, Corrie, Emmerdale – a long-lost Dingle even... or anything!"

On his last Legg

Dot is left terrified next week, when she receives word from poorly friend Dr Legg that stops her dead in her tracks. But what exactly does his message contain?

HITS & MISSES!

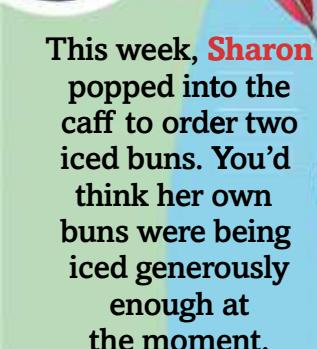

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

"I'll turn into a teapot if I drink any more tea," trilled Mary. Ah! So that's who she reminds us of!

It's funny to have Bernice perpetually slagging off Daz to Kerry, given that actor Mark Jordon is Kerry star Laura Norton's real-life partner. The writers are clearly having a laugh.

This week, Sharon popped into the caff to order two iced buns. You'd think her own buns were being iced generously enough at the moment.

Jude, of course, is the Patron Saint of Lost Causes. Never has a character been more appropriately named.

The week saw one of those moments when a new producer takes over a soap and goes: "I'm sorry, who did you say we're a couple now? Erm... I think not."

From Aidan's suicide to Shakil's murder, it's been a year for devastating, emotional stories. But none, we think, have delivered the same gut punch as Chas and Paddy having to cope with the birth and certain death of their daughter, Grace. Lucy Pargeter and Dominic Brunt delivered powerful performances through the recent funeral scenes. Many tears were shed here at Inside Soap Towers!

Corrie seems determined to make Chesney and Gemma a 'thing'. Sorry, guys – try as we might, we're not buying it. Meanwhile, Emma strikes us a better match. It's not like she's remotely picky!

Why does Dot always act as if the telephone has just been invented? She holds it like she's been asked to shout into a dead rat.

People are always wandering into the Woolpack kitchen and flirting – or worse – while sat on food preparation surfaces. That can't be sanitary.

It was a week for natural disasters in the soaps... Though compared with the Hollyoaks storm, we fear Corrie's volcano may have suffered last-minute budget cuts.

Jay, Louise, Karen... We hear there are also tribes in the high Amazon jungle, as-yet uncontacted by civilisation, who've heard about Sharon's supposed top-secret affair.
